Clinical Indications

References for conditions where capnography may be useful

APNEA

ASTHMA
Langhan, M. End-Tidal Carbon Dioxide as an Objective, Noninvasive Measurement of Acute Asthma Exacerbations. Poster presentation. Society of Pediatric Research; May 2006

BRONCHOSPASM

CPAP
Clinical Indications

References for conditions where capnography may be useful

- DIABETES

- HYPOVENTILATION

- INTUBATION

- LARYNGOSPASM
Clinical Indications
References for conditions where capnography may be useful

- RESPIRATORY FAILURE

- SHOCK AND CARDIAC ARREST

- SEIZURES

- TRANSPORT
Clinical Indications
References for conditions where capnography may be useful

- UNCONSCIOUS OR OBSTUNDED PATIENT

- UPPER AIRWAY OBSTRUCTION

- OTHER

  Anderson M. Capnography: Considerations for Its Use in the Emergency Department Journal of Emergency Nursing; April 2006